SSY and globalCOAL announce Freight Derivatives Se

LONDON, UK, 10 March, 2003

globalCOAL™ and SSY are delighted to announce that SSY, the world's largest independent shipbroking group, will launch a live freight derivative trading service on globalCOAL's trading platform.

Mark Richardson, Head of Futures at SSY said, "We feel very strongly that a blend of voice and screen broking is going to be a great asset in maintaining our strong position in the FFA market. At this moment on voice broking we already have 3 brokers on Wet and 6 on Dry and we are actively looking to expand that number.

Mark Walters, CEO of globalCOAL stated: "Freight constitutes a critically important component of seaborne coal trading. Our initiative with SSY will enable all globalCOAL Market Members to monitor and trade both coal and freight prices at a single location in real time. This combination provides an important new tool for exploring and implementing hedging, trading and arbitrage opportunities.

John Welham, Chairman of SSY said, "The client base in the Mineral Sector that we and globalCOAL already share is key to the structure of this deal. globalCOAL's shareholders and users encompass most of the World's major coal producing/trading and consuming entities. In addition SSY brings strong links with steel mills, grain houses, freight traders and ship owners together with an established commercial presence in the Far East.
